Featured Sessions

Social Thinking Across the Home and School Day: The ILAUGH Model

Featuring: Beckham Linton
April 16, 2018 | 9:00 am - 3:30 pm
Audience: Grades K-12 Educators, Support Staff, Inclusive Education Specialists & Learning Leaders

This day is designed to teach professionals and parents frameworks, concepts, and strategies so that they may better understand the social learning experience and guide others toward improved social processing and social skills.

Going Bigger Than the Test! Growing Readers, Writers and Critical Thinkers

Featuring: Cris Tovani
April 17, 2018 | 9:00 am - 3:30 pm
Audience: Grades 5-12 Educators

During this daylong workshop, Cris Tovani will share ways to increase student engagement so that kids get to work at least as hard as their teachers. The day will focus on critical thinking and how educators can provide authentic audiences and purposes to give students a reason to read, write, and discuss. Participants will investigate current research to support their instructional practices. They will "have a go" at doing some writing, and they will exam different tools to structure the day so that students get more time to read, write and think.
