Keynote Speaker
Dr. Sheri Madigan, a clinical psychologist, holds a Canada Research Chair in Determinants of Child Development. Her research focuses on understanding how social stressors and adversities can influence children's' early social, emotional, and cognitive development. She is also interested in understanding why some children show resilience to these stressors and adversities while others
remain vulnerable.

- Explore how behaviors, values, and mental and physical health are affected.
- Share strategies and guidelines to optimize impact and avoid the risk of missed important developmental skills.
- Model conversations around screen use.
- Balance desired and undesired impacts of screen use on early development.
- Identify everyday opportunities to engage and connect -- with examples and tools.
- Link up with other professionals and parents to increase ALL of our efforts!
